As usual no one appears to have the full story. I am chasing down information. What I do know is that their attorney assures me they will not give notice of reopening or do anything that will result in emissions without contacting me first.

I am happy to chat in detail as well.

All:

Any word on AllenCo's status. Esperanza Housing Clinic is concerned that the messages the government agencies are receiving from the company are merely an attempt to keep the community anxious. She stated that there is no movement or equipment at the facility.

Jessica – Do you have an update. If not maybe, Rebekah can call the attorney.

Thanks

Jessica –

In follow-up to our brief discussion, below is the incoming email from AllenCo's new counsel, as well as Rebekah Reynolds' contact info. Please work with Rebekah in scheduling any further conversations (although please be advised that she is out of the office until next Monday).

Regards,

Jeremy

Hi Amy, Here is an update from AllenCo's new counsel, Michael Gallagher. This was a followup to the email I sent Abbey Hudson a few weeks ago.

Rebekah:

Thanks for your email. My understanding is that Allenco is still working to comply with the certifications needed to re-open the facility. I understand that they will be installing the 7 Gas Meters, as required by DOGGR, by March. I also understand that the hope is that Allenco should be ready to at least burn Gas by April 1, 2017. There is also going to be a Town hall Meeting near the opening date, to discuss the fence line monitor system, metering, and all of the upgrades. For more details, I can arrange for a call with Allenco representatives. Whatever is easiest. Just let me know.

Hi Michael,

Abbey Hudson just provided your contact information to me. Below is my email to Abbey from a few weeks ago. Could you provide an update on the status of AllenCo? If it is better, for the status to come directly from AllenCo, I can ask the program client to reach out to AllenCo instead.

Best Regards,

Hi Abbey,

Could you please provide Amy and I with an update on the status of AllenCo's compliance with EPA's AOC and AllenCo's plans to reopen its facility?

Thank you.
